Quagga Mussels Found in Lake Geneva

The invasive Quagga mussel has been discovered in Lake Geneva. The mussel became established in the great lakes around 1995, but this is the first occurrence for inland lakes. Read the article here.

Upcoming Door County Smallmouth Meeting

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources will meet in November regarding smallmouth bass. Survey data will be presented to the public, and management options will be presented. One option requires the immediate release of smallmouth through June 30. Read more here.

Asian Carp Found in Wisconsin

The invasive Asian Carp has been discovered in western Wisconsin. A recent Wisconsin water survey assessing fish DNA reported no evidence of the carp. However, fishermen were reporting jumping fish at the Dells Dam in Eau Claire. High water levels in June and July may have promoted the migration of the carp into other waterways.
